The Party's On!

Walt Disney World Celebrates 20th Anniversary With 20 Spectacular New Reasons To Visit

Walt Disney World Resort is roaring into its 20s—its 20th Anniversary, that is. To mark the occasion, The Vacation Kingdom is offering 20 Spectacular New Reasons To Visit.

The Magic Kingdom Park features two incredible new parades, SpectroMagic and Surprise Celebration. Plus Minnie Moo, the barnyard sensation with the Mickey Mouse marking, has moved into Mickey's Starland.

Epcot Center showcases an aerial extravaganza called "Surprise in the Skies" plus the nighttime fireworks fantasy, "IllumiNations." And a 71-pound baby manatee has joined the underwater family at the Living Seas.

The Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park is soon to premiere three new stage shows, "Beauty and the Beast," "The Little Mermaid" and "Dinosaurs Live." The Teen-Age Mutant Ninja Turtles are starring in their own show on the backlot. Guests are "shrinking" down to fun size at the Honey, I Shrunk the Kids Movie Set Adventure. The Sci-Fi Drive-In Diner is serving up great food and out-of-this-world sci-fi flicks. "Sorcery in the Sky" is sparkling with music and fireworks over the Chinese Theater. While "Jim Henson's Muppet*Vision 3D" continues to wow audiences with three dimensions of Muppet madness.

Conveniently close to the Theme Parks are four new luxury resort locations, Disney's Yacht and Beach Club Resorts, Disney's Dixie Landings Resort, Disney's Port Orleans Resort and the Disney Vacation Club.

Pleasure Island celebrates New Year's Eve every night of the year complete with a barrage of fireworks and an up-tempo street party into the wee hours of the morning. Top-name entertainment, six different nightclubs, plus shops and restaurants top off the perfect nighttime entertainment.

And set to tee-off in January are two new golf courses, Osprey Ridge and Eagle Pines. These two new fairways were designed by renowned golf course architects Tom Fazio and Pete Dye.

Anniversary Gathering — Mickey Mouse joins thousands of friends to wish Walt Disney World a Happy Anniversary. The year-long celebration began on October 1, 1991 with all-new shows and 20 Spectacular New Reasons To Visit.

Add up all the new shows, surprises, attractions and excitement and the grand total comes to 20 Spectacular New Reasons To Visit Walt Disney World!

Magic Kingdom

Combine the energy of seven lightning bolts, the electrical power of a fleet of 2,000 highway trucks and a sprinkling of pixie dust. Then turn down the lights in the Magic Kingdom. It's showtime for SpectroMagic, premiering during the 20th Anniversary.

Designed as a moving gallery of color and sound, the show uses a techno-workshop of lighting effects to re-create pixies and peacocks, sea horses and flying horses, flower gardens and fountains—all the whimsical creatures and environments of Disney's worlds of wonder and fantasy. "If the Main Street Electrical Parade is a snapshot, now we're going for a complete animated cel," says Project Producer Don Frantz. "It synchronizes music, light and mechanical animation on a grand scale." Here are but a few of the results:

- Practical Pig, poised before the magical world of Disney's characters (more than 100 feet in length and featuring castle towers, a carousel and a bejewelled coach), flicks a paint brush to change the bright colors of the characters' world into silvery white.
- Chernabog, memorable for his role as the monstrous demon figure in "Fantasia," is portrayed in dark and eerie colors as he dramatically spreads his wings to a 38-foot span.

• The three Good Fairies in Sleeping Beauty's garden create the sparkle of day among the flowers and insects...and magically transform the scene to the mystery of night.

• Mickey Mouse, dressed in an amber and purple grand magician's cape, plays the role of a light controller capable of altering colors, brilliance and special effects.

All of this combines to produce SpectroMagic, the Disney entertainment wizards' answer to 21st-century show producing. Could there be anything more breathtaking? Maybe. The flip side to the nighttime fantasy of SpectroMagic is Surprise Celebration, a daytime carnival of larger-than-life Disney characters who bring the world's best-loved street parties to the Magic Kingdom each day of the 20th Anniversary. But look out. Where SpectroMagic is bright, Surprise Celebration is big. And we mean BIG!!!

Mickey, Minnie, Roger Rabbit, Pluto, Donald and Goofy appear as gigantic, cold-air balloon figures that tower 35-40 feet above the parade route on a "funtastic," around-the-world journey through the ultimate outdoor party circuit. The journey takes them from Mardi Gras to "Carnivale de Rio" to the Carnival of Trinidad and Tobago, to a Venetian festival with the crown prince of merrymaking, Mickey Mouse, presiding.

Along with these six enormous balloon characters, Suprise Celebration features a cast of over 100 court jesters, acrobats, stilt walkers, singers, dancers, Disney characters and a daily surprise grand marshal. The latter is a child and his or her family who are chosen to ride aboard a multi-level balloon float with Roger Rabbit.

And speaking of Roger Rabbit, keep an eye out for the crazy hare throughout the day throughout the Magic Kingdom. You can never be sure when he'll turn up. But you can bet your bottom dollar he's a show-stopper wherever he goes...wherever that is!

Right: The Sinclair family brings millions of years of comedy to the Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park.

Epcot Center

Colors take flight and wrap a rainbow around World Showcase in "Surprise in the Skies," the new daytime 20th Anniversary show at Epcot Center. Boats, kites, paraplanes, hang gliders, fireworks and giant balloons are combined in this energetic production that encircles World Showcase Lagoon and soars high above the Park.

"Surprise in the Skies" opens with a fleet of boats creating a carousel of color on the water. Pyrotechnics accent the action, as hang gliders with shimmering streamers are released from the boats to lift the colorful effect 400 feet into the sky.

The hang gliders drift to earth when suddenly, eight paraplanes are sighted circling 500 feet in the air. As they sweep closer to World Showcase Lagoon, guests get a close-up look at the pilots—it's Mickey, Minnie, Pluto, Goofy, Chip, Dale, Pooh and Tigger in colorful aviator suits! Mickey, trailing red, white and blue stars, appears above American Adventure followed by the other seven paraplanes, each with their own wake of American stars. All heads turn to the ground as 40 and 50-foot-high cold-air character balloons rise dramatically in front of each pavilion around World Showcase Lagoon. Dancing "aqua kites," each flowing with daytime fireworks, provide the fabulous finale.

Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park

Two new shows are set to premiere at the Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park...two more Spectacular Reasons To Visit Walt Disney World! Both are based on Disney animated features. The first is "Beauty and the Beast," a live, singing, dancing stage extravaganza making its debut at the Theater of the Stars. The new show stars Belle, Gaston and the Enchanted Prince, performing songs from the newly released film.

Set to premiere in January is "The Little Mermaid," a live music video combining lasers, video, film and live characters to bring guests fathoms of fun under the sea.

Then it's time to roll back a few billion years to "pre-hysterical" times for "Dinosaurs Live." Earl Sinclair, the 43-year-old Megalosaurus and master of the Sinclair cave, appears with the rest of his prime-time fossil family as "guests of extinction" in a live show twice daily on Hollywood Boulevard. It's more fun than a trip to the tar pits!

And speaking of fun, it's hard to beat the zany, off-the-wall antics of "Jim Henson's Muppet*Vision 3D." This incredible show bounces off the screen and into the audience's lap—and that includes bubbles, water, fireworks and more!

1992 Update Video Now Available

Hello 1992! New parades, surprises and spectaculars! Discover all the magic at the Walt Disney World Resort and Disneyland Park, plus all the new Club benefits this coming year, in the 1992 Magic Kingdom Club Update Video, "Discover a New World."

This 22-minute, full-color VHS video tells the story of a certain intrepid explorer named Christopher Columbus who, in 1492, discovered a New World. What history failed to record was that it was actually Walt Disney World that he first set eyes on, followed by Disneyland. It may sound crazy, but it's true. Okay, it may not be true, but it is a lot of fun.

Come join the wackiest voyage across the Atlantic ever sailed in anybody's history book. "Discover a New World," is available for $9.95 and can be ordered through the 1992 Magic Kingdom Club Membership Guide.

Discover AmeriFlora '92

AmeriFlora '92 is the centerpiece of the United States' commemoration of Columbus' 1492 voyage. It is also the first International Floral and Garden Exposition ever held in the U.S. and the crown jewel of a year-long Quincentennial Celebration exploring the events and people who have shaped our nation during the past 500 years.

AMERIFLORA'92™
AMERICA'S CELEBRATION OF DISCOVERY

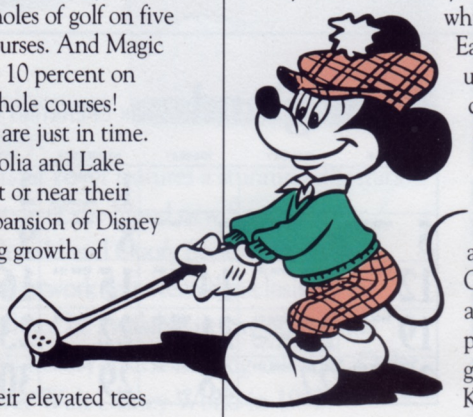
This World's Fair-type exhibition takes place April 20th to October 12, 1992 in Columbus, Ohio. If you would like to discover AmeriFlora '92, make sure to bring your Magic Years Club membership card with you and save 15 percent on your daily admission and the season pass.

Two New Courses Suit Golfers to a Tee

Two of America's most renowned golf course architects have crafted the latest additions to Disney's "Magic Linkdom." Pete Dye and Tom Fazio have designed two adjacent 18-hole championship golf courses amidst wilderness pines at the Walt Disney World Resort. With the opening of the Osprey Ridge course and the Eagle Pines layout in January 1992, Walt Disney World will boast an array of 90 holes of golf on five 81-hole championship courses. And Magic Years Club members save 10 percent on greens fees on all five 18-hole courses!

The two new courses are just in time. Already, the Palm, Magnolia and Lake Buena Vista courses are at or near their capacity and with the expansion of Disney resorts and the continuing growth of popularity in the sport, more visitors are expected. Designed by Joe Lee, these three courses, distinctive for their elevated tees and greens, currently host about 400 tournaments and thousands of individual rounds of golf each year.

The Osprey Ridge and Eagle Pines courses are located in the northeastern part of the 43-square-mile Walt Disney World property, a mere duck hook away from Fort Wilderness Resort and Campground, and within a John Daly 7-iron of Disney's Dixie Landings Resort, which opens in February. Each course offers a unique challenge.Both courses share the new clubhouse at Bonnet Lakes Golf Club.



So if golf is your game, grab your clubs and your Magic Years Club membership card and come save 10 percent on the best greens in the Vacation Kingdom.

Year-Round Senior Fun Day Passport

The good news about the Senior Fun Day Passport is that it includes one day's admission and unlimited use of Disneyland adventures and attractions (except Arcades) for the Club member price of only $21. However, it was only available Sunday through Friday from September through June. But, now these Passports will be available year-round! Just present your Magic Years Club membership card at a Main Entrance ticket window any day of the year and you and one guest can enjoy Disneyland for only $21 each!

Happy Holidays!

A Disney Christmas - Everything But Snow!

Looking for sleigh bells, mistletoe and a Santa's sack of perfect holiday memories? Then look no further than Disneyland Park and the Walt Disney World Resort. You'll find a winter wonderland of Yuletide treats you and your family will treasure forever.

Disneyland

The sights and sounds of the season will surround holiday visitors, from the magnificently decorated 60-foot Christmas tree in Town Square, to Dickens carolers, strolling musicians and lavish decor in every corner of Disneyland. Even Santa Claus himself will be on hand at Big Thunder Ranch to hear the Christmas wishes of younger guests.

The Very Merry Christmas Parade, a holiday tradition, steps off down Main Street, U.S.A. combining lavish costumes, popular Disney music and the beloved Disney characters in a spectacular holiday pageant. Scenes from such timeless animated classics as "Sleeping Beauty," "Fantasia" and "Jungle Book" are brought to life. The march of the Toy Soldiers, Santa and his dancing reindeer plus a host of Toyland characters provide the lively finale. Making a special appearance this year alongside the parade's traditional cast will be the stars of Disney's newest animated film, "Beauty and the Beast."

Adding to the excitement of this year's holiday season is a spectacular new stage production, "Mickey's Nutcracker," a Disney re-telling of E.T.A. Hoffman's classic children's story, "The Nutcracker." Accompanied by musical themes from Tchaikovsky's famous ballet, as well as some contemporary tunes in a wide array of styles—classical, rock, swing, Dixieland and bluegrass—favorite Disney characters will enact a tongue-in-cheek version of the well-known story. "Mickey's Nutcracker" will be performed five times daily throughout December on the Videopolis stage.

December guests will have the chance to view a second new show, as the Disneyland characters welcome Belle, Gaston, the Enchanted Prince and other stars from "Beauty and the Beast." The production combines live actors, Disney characters and puppet technology and features many of the songs from the new film. It will be presented on the Carnation Plaza Gardens stage weekends and holidays (including the two weeks of Christmas vacation) and will continue through spring of 1992.

Above: Mickey and Minnie turn out in full Dickenesque costume to celebrate the spirit of Christmas Disney-style. Right: Strolling carolers sing out the sounds of the season in 4-part harmony.

Walt Disney World

Florida sunshine makes the thousands of ornaments hanging on Walt Disney World's Christmas trees sparkle even brighter in the warm winter air. Every Park is decked out with fresh holly wreaths, beautiful displays in shopfront windows and giant pines shining with lights and balls.

The Magic Kingdom features the warmth and whimsy of The Very Merry Christmas Parade plus special Christmas shows and entertainment for the young and the young at heart. Epcot Center dazzles December visitors with "Holiday Splendor" starring special guest Carol Lawrence plus nearly 100 singers and dancers. This unique live performance takes the audience on a whirlwind Christmas tour around the world featuring traditional songs and dances performed during the holidays in Russia, China and other lands.

Under the heading of "It wouldn't be Christmas without..." is "The Glory and Pageantry of Christmas," a moving re-enactment of the Nativity performed in the Disney Village Marketplace on the Village Dock Stage. Now in its 16th year, this touching spectacle brings to life the real meaning of Christmas and features a cast of more than 40 performers. There is also sign language for the hearing impaired at all shows. Performances begin December 13 and there is no charge for admission.

Happy Holidays from the Disney family to yours!

"Beauty and the Beast"

Walt Disney Pictures presents the touching love story of Belle, a beautiful young girl who finds herself courted by a hideous but well-mannered beast. Belle must learn to see beyond appearances in order to break the evil spell that controls the beast who is actually an enchanted Prince. This all-new animated film features a delightful original score by Howard Ashman and Alan Menken, the Academy Award-winning composers of "The Little Mermaid."

"Father of the Bride"

Soon to be released from Touchstone Pictures is a hilarious modernization of the 1950s Spencer Tracy/Elizabeth Taylor comedy classic. The 90s version stars Steve Martin as a beleaguered father trying to cope with the pre-marital chaos and commotion wrought by the two most expensive words in his daughter's vocabulary: "I do." Martin wrestles with the harsh realities of love and marriage, only to fall in love all over again with his ex-wife, played by Diane Keaton.

■ Euro Disney celebrated its six-month countdown to opening day with a spectacular, castle-topping ceremony October 12, 1991. Spectators cheered as a giant crane hoisted the final magnificent spire of Le Chateau del la Belle au Bois Dormant to its final resting place, completing the fantasy castle inspired by the book, "Les Tres Riches Heures du Duc de Berry." Meanwhile, deep beneath the castle floor, a fierce, fire-breathing dragon makes his home in a dark, grotto... Euro Disney is set to open its doors in April 12, 1992.

■ Superstar teddy bears and dolls will be bringing their creators to the 1992 Walt Disney World Teddy Bear and Doll Convention December 5 through 8.
